

OPENING THIS WEEK HELEN SUMPTER

SOUTHWARK SEEN

Cafe Gallery Projects celebrates the completed revamp of their Southwark Park surrounds with a show of photographic works about the park. Photographers include David Allen, Caroline Webster and local young people connected to the gallery. Also on show are archive film and photographs dating back to the 1860s. Sat 13 Jul-Sun 4 Aug, Cafe Gallery Projects, By The Lake, Southwark Park, SE16 (020-7237 1230).

ANDREW DODDS: WHAT CAN BE IMAGINED, CAN BE CREATED/KEVIN OSMOND: DISPOSABLE

In the foyer of The Economist building in St James's, Andrew Dodds's three-screen video work combines the kitsch visuals of Las Vegas slot machines with the soundtrack of soporific self-help tapes. In the outside plaza, Kevin Osmond creates a long and winding sculpture using the average office's monthly consumption of 7,000 disposable white plastic cups. Wed 17 Jul-Sun 8 Sep, The Economist, 25 St James's Street, SW1 (07960 811 390).

IN YOUR TIME

Percy Miller Gallery shows drawings and paintings by six artists. These include William Steiger's pared-down paintings of natural and man-made elements in the landscape. Marcel van Eeden's graphite drawings recreate scenes in random photographs, linked only by the fact that the events depicted took place before he was born. Fri 12 Jul-Thur 29 Aug, Percy Miller Gallery, 39 Snowsfields, SE1 (020-7207 4578).

32 YEARS OF FLOWERS EAST

Before it moves to a new space nearer to Shoreditch, Flowers East marks 32 years in its current home near London Fields with a show of work by some of the artists it has represented over the years. One of those is John McLean, who painted 'Bel Canto 1998' (above). Fri 12 Jul-Sat 7 Sep, Flowers East, 199-205 Richmond Road, E8 (020-8985 3333).
